BACKGROUND INFORMATION & NOTES

Apolitical campaign operative looking to make a difference without being in the spotlight.

"A very observant child, and good at taking chances. Able to navigate & read the room to mitigate consequences and wheel and deal for more favorable outcomes.

Looking for a life of influence but just outside the public's view he was interning with the local newspaper when not picking up shifts bartending. Distilling fact from fiction, exaggeration from bullshit. Digging into the details for the real story.

Working the campaign trail for a home town hero running for office. Finding the right people for interviews, wheeling and dealing for speaking engagements, making an opponent's note cards come up missing from their jacket pocket or assistant's clip board. Not all politics are on the up and up.As such a valuable asset in campaigning, higher offices call for more... versatile tactics"
